The EMRPCC is delighted to have the Koorie Heritage Trust
provide cultural awareness training to palliative care staff.

The training will give an overview of Aboriginal identity, language, relationship to the land, dreaming & lore and the impact post colonisation had through major government policy & legislation, missions & reserves . The Aboriginal community today is discussed, including key indicators in health and wellbeing, education, employment, justice, and housing. There will be an overview of Aboriginal community structures, appropriate protocols and a session on meeting the palliative care needs of Aboriginals.

Please submit your request to attend via email to
