What is palliative care?

Palliative care helps people with a life-limiting illness to have the best possible quality of life. It is available for everyone – of any age, race, culture, background or religion, and most services are free.

Depending on your needs, palliative care may include:

- Medicine and other therapies to relieve your pain and manage symptoms
- Support for your family members
- Help and equipment to live comfortably at home where possible
- Help to meet your spiritual, religious or cultural needs
- Regular visits from health workers and other care providers

If you choose to have palliative care, you can talk about your individual needs, ask any questions and make requests so you have the best care possible.

When using palliative care, the person with the illness and their family are always in control of decisions about their health, medical treatment and wellbeing.
